TAY LAY BENG

v.

MENTERI HAL-EHWAL DALAM NEGERI MALAYSIA & ANOR

HIGH COURT MALAYA, IPOH
BALIA YUSOF WAHI JC
[CRIMINAL APPLICATION NO: 44-10-2004]
8 DECEMBER 2004

PREVENTIVE DETENTION: Detention order - Detention under Emergency (Public Order and Prevention of Crime) Ordinance 1969 - Defect in affidavit of police officer reporting circumstances of detenu's arrest to designated officer - Whether mere misstatement and typographical error - Whether detenu prejudiced by such error

PREVENTIVE DETENTION: Detention order - Detention under Emergency (Public Order and Prevention of Crime) Ordinance 1969 - Detention under s. 4(1) of Ordinance - Whether detenu detained under correct limb of s. 4(1) - Whether report of circumstances of arrest and detention of detenu submitted to Minister

The applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003 and detained for 30 days under s. 3(1) of the Emergency (Public Order and Prevention of Crime) Ordinance 1969 ('the Ordinance'). His detention was extended under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance for a further 30 days from 25 April 2003 by a designated police officer. On 24 May 2003, a detention order was issued against the applicant ordering his detention for two years under s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. The applicant applied to be released under a writ of habeas corpus. At the hearing of the application, counsel raised the following issues. Firstly, encl 7 - the affidavit by one Supt Wan Ahmad reporting the circumstances of the applicant's arrest to the designated officer under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance – was defective and ought to be rejected. Paragraph 3 of encl 7 stated that Supt Wan Ahmad reported the circumstances of the applicant's arrest to the designated officer on 10 August 2001. However, argued counsel, Supt Wan Ahmad's report annexed to encl 7 as exh 'WAN1' clearly showed that the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003 and that the reporting of circumstances was made on 23 April 2003. Argued counsel, the applicant was not in police custody on 10 August 2001 and thus the affidavit was defective in that it failed to show the exact date on which the reporting of circumstances was done. Secondly, it appeared that the applicant was detained for crimes 'berunsur kekerasan' or resembling violence. Counsel submitted that these words were not in compliance with s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. Counsel further submitted that the detention order was in the alternative and that the minister failed to state which of the grounds in s. 4(1) he was relying on. Thirdly, counsel contended that in encl 15 – the affidavit of the designated officer under s. 3(3)(c) – it was averred that the officer had reported the circumstances of the applicant's arrest and detention to the Minister in his report annexed in encl 15 as exh 'ARH2'. However counsel argued that 'ARH2' was not a report but a mere covering letter to the Minister. The non-disclosure of the report was therefore fatal to the case.

Held (dismissing the application):

[1] The High Court, having considered all the evidence adduced, was satisfied that the date 10 August 2001 appearing in para 3 of encl 7 was a mere misstatement and typographical error. There was ample evidence to prove that the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003. The mistake as to the date in para 3 of encl 7 was not material and not prejudicial to the applicant. (p 680 b-h & 681 a)

[2] From the grounds of detention attached to the order, it was clear that the applicant was detained on the second limb of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. The word 'berunsur kekerasan' could also mean 'involving violence' as stated under s. 4(1). The applicant's objection to the use of the words 'berunsur kekerasan' instead of just 'kekerasan' did not vitiate the detention order. On the facts and circumstances of the case, and having considered the evidence, the High Court was of the view that there was no defect in the detention order and it was not shown that the Minister had invoked the wrong limb of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. (p 681 f-g)

[3] From the averments by the Minister in his affidavit marked as encl 4, it was clear that a report as to the circumstances of arrest and detention of the applicant was submitted to him on 24 April 2003 by the designated officer. After considering the report, a detention order was made on 24 May 2003 directing the applicant to be detained for two years. This confirmation by the Minister of the receipt of such a report from the designated officer sealed the doubts that were cast on the exh 'ARH2' and the absence of such a report as contended by the applicant.

Counsel for the applicant launched an attack on this affidavit by contending that what is stated by the deponent in para. 3 of the said affidavit is not true wherein it was stated he referred the circumstances of the arrest to the designated officer on 10 August 2001 at 12.15 pm. It was submitted that this fact is not true as the applicant was only arrested on 26 march 2003 at 4.30pm. The applicant was actually not in police custody on 10 August 2001 as averred in the said para. 3. However exh. "WAN I" which is referred to in the same paragraph states that the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003 and that the reporting of the circumstances of the arrest under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance was made on 23 April 2003 at 9.15 am. Counsel for the applicant submits that there are two versions of the circumstances as disclosed by the officer which shows the cavalier attitude of the officer in so affirming the said affidavit. The court is urged to give the version more favorable to the applicant and that the defective affidavit has failed to show the exact date on which the reporting of the circumstances was done.

In my considered view, having perused the facts stated in para. 3 of the affidavit in encl. 7 and exh. "WAN I" accompanying it and as against the whole background of the case and all the other facts which are gathered from the affidavits filed in this application, I hold that the mistake as to the date in para. 3 of encl. 7 is not material and is not prejudicial to the applicant. I accept it as an established fact that the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003 and clearly the date 10 August 2001 in the said para. 3 is a typographical error at the most. Exhibit "WAN 1" reinforces that finding. Besides, encl. 15 which is an affidavit by the designated officer under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance further fortify my finding wherein it was stated by the said designated officer in paragraph 4 as follows:

> 4. Pada 23.04.2003, jam 9.15 a.m saya telah menerima laporan hal keadaan penangkapan dan penahanan terhadap TAY LAY BENG (NO KPT:741015-01-6901) (selepas ini disebut sebagai pemohon) daripada Superintendan Polis Wan Ahmad Najmuddin bin Mohd, telah mengkaji dan meneliti laporan tersebut saya mendapati bahawa penahanan terhadap pemohon perlu dilanjutkan selama 30 hari bertujuan untuk meneruskan siasatan terhadap pemohon. Saya berpuas hati bahawa ada alasan-alasan yang mematutkan pemohon ditahan di bawah Seksyen 4(1) Ordinan tersebut.

From the above set of facts it is beyond doubt that the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003 at 4.30 pm and that the report of the circumstances of his arrest was made to the designated officer under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance on 23 April 2003 and in accordance with the provisions of the law. In Liew Kim Swee v. Menteri Dalam Negeri Malaysia & Anor [1991] 1 CLJ 53 Dato' Mohtar bin Abdullah J (as he then was) has stated following at p. 54:

> Keterangan dalam kes-kes habeas corpus adalah dengan afidavit-afidavit, dan jika kandungan afidavit-afidavit tidak mencukupi untuk membuktikan pematuhan kepada kehendak prosidur yang ditetapkan oleh undang-undang, maka walaupun pihak berkuasa mungkin mempunyai alasan yang baik dan munasabah untuk menahan seseorang yang memudaratkan keselamatan negara, mahkamah akan terpaksa memerintahkan pembebasan orang tahanan itu. Walau bagaimanapun di dalam kes ini, saya dapati meskipun beberapa affidavit bagi pihak responden terlalu ringkas, tetapi pada keseluruhannya keterangan yang dikemukakan adalah mencukupi untuk mahkamah memutuskan isu-isu yang telah ditimbulkan.

I am satisfied that having considered all the evidence before me, the applicant's objection to the misstatement on the date 10 August 2001 is a typographical error in the affidavit encl. 7, and there is ample evidence to prove the applicant was arrested on 26 March 2003.

The second objection by the applicant is premised on the ground of detention and the allegations of facts on which the detention order was made. It is stated in the "Alasan-Alasan Yang Asasnya Perintah Ini Dibuat" that the applicant "adalah seorang ahli Gang 'Jin Ngee long' yang telah melibatkan diri dalam jenayah yang berunsur kekerasan (emphasis added). Again, in the "Penyataan-Penyataan Fakta Yang Asasnya Perintah ini Diasaskan" it was stated that" Bahawa kamu adalah seorang ahli Gang 'Jin Ngee Tong' yang bertaraf (Ahli Biasa) serta menjalankan kegiatan Pinjaman Wang Tanpa Lesen (Tai Tong). Kamu melibatkan diri secara langsung dalam melakukan jenayah yang berunsurkan kekerasan seperti mendatangkan cedera, ugutan jenayah bencana dan pemerasan dalam usaha untuk mendapatkan kembali wang pinjaman serta faedah ke atas pinjaman di kawasan persekitaran Bandaran Kluang, Johor." (emphasis added). En. V. Shanmugam, counsel for the applicant submits that the words 'berunsur kekerasan' does not comply with the provisions of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. Translated into the English language the word 'berunsurkan kekerasan' means 'resembling violence'. Thus, it was submitted that it is not what is intended or provided for in s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. It is further submitted by counsel that the detention order is in the alternative and the minister has failed to state which of the grounds in s. 4(1) he is relying on.

From the grounds of detention attached to the order it seems clear that the applicant was detained on the second limb of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. To me the words 'berunsur kekerasan" can also mean exactly what the English equivalent of 'involving violence' as stipulated in that section. The applicant's objection to the use of the words 'berunsur kekerasan' instead of just 'kekerasan' does not vitiate the detention order. The ground stated in the detention order clearly say that the order was made for the purpose of the suppression of violence or the prevention of crimes involving violence as supported in the allegations of facts detailing the applicant's criminal activities involving violence. In this respect it is therefore erroneous to suggest that the Honorable Minister has failed to specify on which limb of s. 4(1) the order was made. The learned counsel's argument that the order is worded in the alternative is therefore untrue. Reliance was sought to be placed on the case of Menteri Hal-Ehwal Dalam Negeri & Anor v. Lee Gee Lam and Another Application [1993] 3 MLJ 673 where the Supreme Court in dismissing the appeal held that on the face of it, the order was vague as to whether the Deputy Minister had actually applied his mind to the particular circumstances of the respondent's case or whether he had exercised his power of detention mechanically. The order of detention in that case was clearly worded in the alternative to the extent that it has left some doubt as to which particular limb the Minister applied his mind to or whether he applied his mind to both the limbs together in granting the order. Such is not the case before me now, as all the four allegations of facts against the applicant as contained in the detention order bore the hallmark of violence reflecting gangsterism, intimidation and use of weapons. These grounds fall squarely under the second limb of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance which was appropriately invoked by the Honorable Minister in this case. In Re-Application of Tan Bon Hiat & Allen Tan Boon Liat v. Menteri Hal-Ehwal Dalam Negeri, Malaysia & Ors [1976] 2 MLJ 82 at p. 84 Abdoolcader J (as he then was) opined:

> An order of detention based on irrelevant grounds is invalid and if any of the grounds furnished to the detenu are found to be irrelevant while considering the application of the relevant legislation under which the detention is ordered and in that sense are foreign thereto, the satisfaction of the detaining authority on which the order of detention is based is open to challenge and the detention order liable to be quashed (Rameshwar Shaw v. District Magistrate, Burdwan & Anor.)

It is trite that s. 4(1) of the Ordinance contains two separate and distinct limbs and the Honorable Minister must be seen to be exercising his powers by invoking the correct limb in issuing the said detention order. A failure to do so would lead to the conclusion that he had acted mechanically and arbitrarily (Chia Khin Seng v. Deputy Minister of Home Affairs [1957] 2 J Cr 279.

On the facts and circumstances of this case, and having considered the evidence before me, I am of the considered view that there is no defect in the detention order and that it is not shown that the Minister has invoked the wrong limb of s. 4(1) of the Ordinance. Accordingly, I hold that the applicant's objection on this ground must also fail.

I shall now turn to the third ground advanced by the applicant in support of his application for a writ of habeas corpus. Enclosure 15 is an affidavit by Senior Assistant Commissioner of Police II Dato Abd. Rahim b. Hj. Hanafi, a designated officer under s. 3(3)(c) of the Ordinance. In para. 4 of the said encl. 15, this officer averred that on 23 April 2003 at 9.15am he received a report of the circumstances of the arrest of the applicant from one Superintendent Wan Ahmad Najmuddin bin Mohd, and in para. 5 of the same he further stated that he reported the circumstances of the arrest and detention of the applicant to the Minister with a copy of the report exhibited as "ARH 2" in his affidavit. Counsel for the applicant contended that exh. " ARH 2" is not a report but a mere covering letter to the Honorable Minister. The non-disclosure of the report by this officer is in his submission fatal to the case because there is indeed no such report.

As alluded to in the earlier part of my judgment and guided by the approach adopted by the court in the case of Liew Kim Swee v. Menteri Dalam Negeri Malaysia & Anor (supra), the affidavit evidence by which this application is determined must be considered as a whole and in its totality. In so doing it is pertinent to consider encl. 4, the affidavit of the Honorable Minister who at paras. 5 and 6 states the following:

> 5. Pada 24.04.2003 saya telah menerima laporan hal keadaan penangkapan dan penahanan pemohon daripada pegawai yang ditetapkan di bawah Seksyen 3(3)(c) Ordinan tersebut iaitu Pemangku Senior Assistan Komissioner Polis II ABD. RAHIM BIN HJ HANAFI.
> 6. Daripada laporan lengkap penyiasatan yang berkaitan dengan aktiviti pemohon yang telah saya terima mengenai tangkapan dan penahanan pemohon, saya telah berpuashati bahawa pemohon adalah seorang ahli Gang 'Jin Ngee Tong yang telah melibatkan diri dalam jenayah yang berunsurkan kekerasan dan adalah perlu pemohon ditahan bagi tujuan menghapuskan kekerasan dan mencegah jenayah melibatkan kekerasan. Seterusnya saya telah membuat satu Perintah Tahanan di bawah Seksyen 4(1) Ordinan Darurat (Ketenteraman Awam Dan Mencegah Jenayah), 1969 bertarikh 24.05.2003 yang mengarahkan supaya pemohon ditahan bagi tempoh 2 tahun mulai dari 24.05.2003 (selepas ini dirujuk sebagai Perintah Tahanan tersebut". Satu salinan Perintah Tahanan tersebut adalah sepertimana yang dilampirkan dan ditandakan sebagai ekshibit 'ZAZ-1' di dalam affidavit pemohon.

From the above said averments by the Honorable Minister, it is clear that a report as to the circumstances of arrest and detention of the applicant was submitted to him on 24 April 2003 by the designated officer following which and after considering the report, a detention order was made on 24 May 2003 directing the applicant to be detained for a period of two years from that date. This confirmation by the Honorable Minister of the receipt of such a report from the designated officer sealed the doubts that were cast on the exhibit marked " ARM 2" and the absence of such a report as contended by the applicant. Having satisfied himself, based on the report relating to the activities of the applicant, a detention order under s. 4(1) of the Ordinance was issued. Upon these facts and circumstances , I find no basis in the applicant's doubts as to the existence of a report referred to in exh. "ARM 2" and hence the propreity of the detention order.

In the circumstances, the application for a writ of habeas corpus is hereby refused.
